Subject: Ladysmith Road Amendment to Flat Type A

In purely aesthetic terms the increase in height has slightly improved the proportions and appearance of this building. However it has also made it slightly more dominant over the adjacent properties, especially those immediately to the west of this block. It can however also be argued that the streetscape is slightly improved by making this building more prominent and emphasising the entrance to the site. Hence in purely aesthetic terms the advantages slightly outweigh the disadvantages and there are therefore no objections to this alteration.
